I know General Cavin is out of the country or very busy, so I address you. My last letter told him I'd ask the post office to check and see if the book he does not recall and didn't return ever reached him. As you can see from this electrostatic copy, it did. Therefore, I hope it will not be burdensome for you to check the files or wherever else it may be to seeif you can locate and return it. I regret having to bother you about this, but I simply do not have the funds to replace the copy, with zeroxing costing 20 cents a sheet here. If you do locate it, please insure it and return by "Special Fourth Class Rate-Book which is but 12¢ for the first pound and 6¢ for each additional pound.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg

P.S. Should the general want to read the second part of COUP D'ETAT, which deal entirely with the King/Ray case, I now have that xeroxed.
